FIVE CENTS

Little Man, What Now?

In the last war, the presence of German submarines reported off New York caused some hysteria.

In this war, Japanese submarines actually firing on our shipping within eyesight of the coast, apparently causes no especial hysteria—at least on this coast.

It is somewhat parallel to the Los Angeles earthquake of several years ago, when motorists drove down to the worst-hit sections to see the damage.

I was in Canada at the time, and the staid Eastern Canadians were quite shocked at this evidence of American lunacy. I thought to myself, "Just like us Californians!"

Last Saturday afternoon I was in the right place just a little late to see the Japanese submarine in action off Cypress Point. Had the news spread in time, Civilian Defense authorities might have had a considerable job keeping sightseers and thrill-seekers from jamming Cypress Point.

With all this Japanese submarine activity, one wonders what the little brown fellow thinks he is doing. The obvious answer is, of course, probably just putting on a show that somehow doesn't go across with the unshakable American public.

As a matter of fact, that submarines would come to this coast was just one of those things to be expected. And, with submarines and planes coming out of the western sea, mines are to be expected.

That is what Lt. Comm. Paul Flanders, one of the first to re-enter service from Carmel, was preparing for all those many months ago. That is also what the sardine fleets of this coast, which I described in an article a year and a half ago as "A Fleet of Peace" at a time when other fleets were bringing war and ruin instead of plenty, were preparing for all along—causing the Eighth Wonder of the West, the continued building of bigger and better boats to fish for a vanishing species of sardine.

To Be Congratulated

I want to go on record as complimenting certain persons connected with Civilian Defense for their level-headedness during a preliminary period of excitement and even hysteria.

Some of these men have performed outstanding service in saving a situation which might have become as bad, or worse even, than what might have occurred during actual air raids.

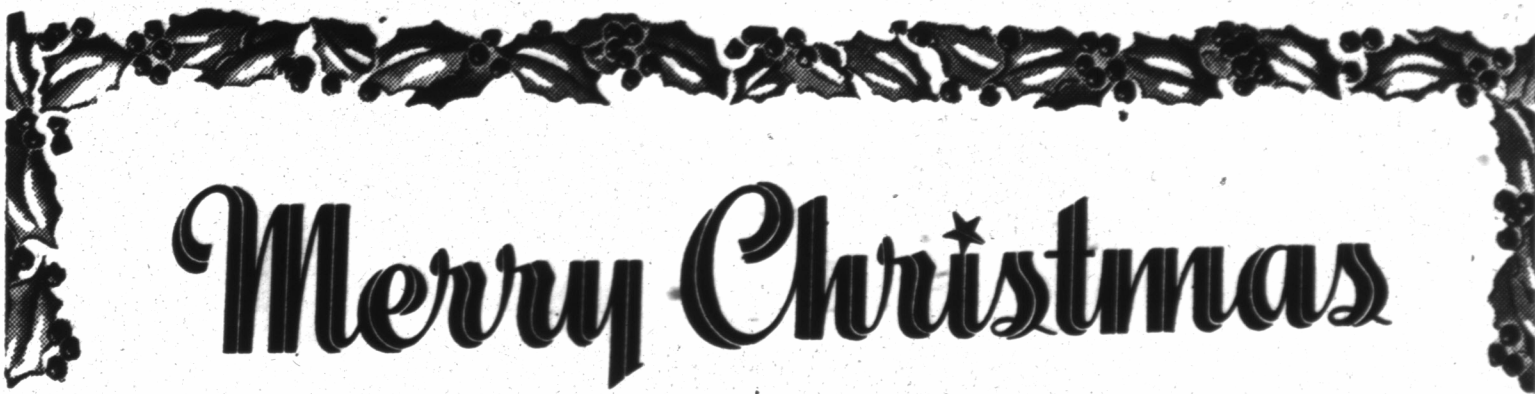

It is to these persons, including Mayor Keith Evans, that high credit is due. It cannot yet be revealed how much they did, how important was their stand, but, as these things all come to light sometimes, so it will be in their case.

Now it is because of these men of character, foresight and determination that we can place our faith in their ability as leaders to see that we have the least to fear in the case of any emergency.

It is a source of confidence; and, at the same time, a rebuff to those who would incite hysteria, to note that Civilian Defense, on the local front at least, has secured safeguards.

Merry Christmas

Christmas 1941

This is Christmas, 1941.

A decorated Christmas tree stands in the Carmel Library front yard, hung with gaudy lights.

Up and down the streets shoppers have been very busy, getting and sending gifts, exchanging greetings.

Everything seems to go on as usual.

But this is Christmas, 1941.

Out on the sea, perhaps within a few miles of Carmel Bay, Japanese submarines, filled with little brown men, lurk in wait for coast-wise shipping, hoping of blowing a tanker or two into bits.

At various training centers, Carmel young men are preparing to serve their country, those who have not already gone a little further and undergone baptism of fire.

On the seas and in far places are men who have left Carmel, to fight in defense of their country and against the shadow of Hitlerism.

It is Christmas for all of these.

And in our midst are young men who have come from far parts of the country. In many a distant home there is a vacant chair, and many a homeless young man in uniform watches while others celebrate

Christmas in the cheer beside their own hearths.

Some will have the benefit of a

Christmas dinner among new friends, thanks to USO, but not all.

Yet it is Christmas for all of these.

It is Christmas, 1941.

The Songs of Christmas Time

SILENT NIGHT

Silent night, holy night,
All is calm, all is bright
Round yon Virgin Mother and Child.
Holy Infant so tender and mild,
Sleep in heavenly peace,
Sleep in heavenly peace.

Silent night, holy night,
Shepherds quake at the sight,
Glories stream from heaven afar,
Heav'nly hosts sing Alleluia;
Christ, the Saviour, is born!
Christ, the Saviour, is born!

Silent night, holy night,
Son of God, love's pure light
Radiant beams from Thy holy face,
With the dawn of redeeming grace,
Jesus, Lord, at Thy birth,
Jesus, Lord, at Thy birth.

HARK! THE HERALD ANGELS SING

Hark! the herald angels sing
Glory to the new-born King;
Peace on earth and mercy mild,
God and sinners reconcil'd!
Joyful, all ye nations, rise,
Join the triumph of the skies;
With th'angelic host proclaim
Christ is born in Bethlehem.
Hark! the herald angels sing
Glory to the new-born King.

THE FIRST NOEL

The first Noel the angel did say
Was to certain poor shepherds in fields as they lay;
In fields where they lay keeping their sheep
On a cold winter's night that was so deep.
Noel, Noel, Noel, Noel,
Born is the King of Israel.

They looked up and saw a Star
Shining in the East, beyond them far,
And to the earth it gave great light,
And so it continued both day and night.
Noel, Noel, Noel, Noel,
Born is the King of Israel.

O COME, ALL YE FAITHFUL

O come, all ye faithful, joyful and triumphant;
O come ye, O come ye to Bethlehem:
Come and behold Him, born the King of angels;
O come, let us adore Him,
O come, let us adore Him,
O come, let us adore Him,
Christ, the Lord.

Sing, choirs of angels, sing in exultation,
Sing, all ye citizens of heav'n above:
Glory to God in the highest;
O come, let us adore Him,
O come, let us adore Him,
O come, let us adore Him,
Christ, the Lord.

EXECUTIVE ORDER ON BLACKOUTS ISSUED BY MAYOR

I, KEITH B. EVANS, Mayor of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, in pursuance of the authority vested in me by Division 8 of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea and the laws of the State of California, do hereby issue the following Executive Order:

1. An extraordinary emergency now exists and will continue to exist in the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea during the continuation of the present war.

2. It shall be unlawful for any person to allow or permit in said city the escape of any light or light rays from any building, structure, boat, vessel, vehicle, skylight, fireplace, flashlight or similar appliances, on any premises or place owned, possessed or in control, in whole or in part, by any such person, during any blackout period, as herein defined, except as herein after otherwise provided.

3. A blackout, for the purposes of this order, is hereby defined as that period of time commencing with the authorized air raid warning signal and ending with the all clear signal, as such signals are prescribed herein.

4. The authorized air raid warning signal shall be four blasts of fire department whistle or siren repeated four or more times, and the authorized air raid all clear signal shall be two blasts of such whistle or siren repeated four or more times; provided, however, that either or both of said signals may be changed from time to time by resolution of the Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea; such change to be and become effective upon the publication once of such resolution in a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Monterey.

5. It shall be unlawful for any person in said city during such blackout period to loiter upon any public street, lane, alley, public park, or other public place when ordered by a peace officer or other authorized agent of the city to leave the same or any part thereof.

6. No person shall drive or operate any automobile or other vehicle in said city during any blackout period at a speed in excess of five (5) miles per hour, except when ordered to exceed such speed by a peace officer, a military or naval authority or other authorized agent of said city, or to drive or operate any such vehicle in said city at all during such blackout period when ordered to desist therefrom by any such peace officer, military or naval authority or other authorized agent.

7. It shall be lawful, notwithstanding any provision in this Ordinance to the contrary, to use and employ a light or lights on an automobile or other vehicle, or a flashlight, during such blackout period in said city when such light or lights are dimmed or shrouded in the manner prescribed by subsequent Executive Orders, upon such Orders being published in a newspaper of general circulation published in the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, in the County of Monterey.

8. The Sheriff of the County of Monterey is hereby authorized, directed and empowered to declare and order a blackout in said city through the Chief of Police thereof upon instructions so to do from authorized official military or naval sources and to order the authorized all clear signal to be given through said Chief of Police upon receiving instructions so to do from authorized military or naval sources.

9. The Chief of Police of said city is hereby authorized and directed to order the authorized air raid warning signal to be given in said city by the Fire Department of said city upon notification so to do by said Sheriff, and is authorized and directed to order said Fire Department to give said authorized air raid all clear signal when directed so to do by said Sheriff. Said Chief of Police is hereby charged with the duty of such signals being given as prescribed by this Order.

10. The Chief of the Fire Department of said city, and each member of said department, is hereby charged with the duty of giving such signals forthwith when ordered so to do by said Chief of Police.

11. It shall be unlawful for any person to order the giving of said signals, or either of them, except as herein prescribed.

12. It shall be unlawful in said city for any person to own, operate or maintain during the period of said emergency, any illuminated or lighted sign, bulb, tube, appliance or device emitting light rays on any premises or at any place in said city, public or private, inside or outside of any building or structure, unless the same, and each thereof, is capable of being extinguished within one minute of the sounding of said authorized air raid warning signal and unless the same, and each thereof, is constantly attended from sunset to sunrise by one or more persons capable and charged with the duty of extinguishing such illuminated or lighted bulb, tube, sign, appliance or device emitting such light rays within said one minute period hereinabove mentioned.

13. It shall be unlawful for any person in said city between sunset and sunrise to leave unattended any illuminated or lighted bulb, tube, sign, appliance or device emitting light rays from any building, structure or enclosure to the exterior of the same, or any part thereof.

14. It shall be unlawful for any person to perform, or attempt to perform, the duties of a peace officer or member of the Fire Department of said city in the enforcement of any provision hereof, whether acting in a temporary or voluntary capacity, or otherwise, except as and when authorized so to do by the Chief of Police or the Chief of the Fire Department of said city respectively.

15. It shall be unlawful to enter, or attempt to enter, upon any pier, wharf, beach, waterfront property, or any premises upon which an electric power plant, gas plant, or gasoline or oil storage tanks of more than 5000 gallons capacity each is located; or board, or attempt to board, or move, or attempt to move, any boat or vessel in the Carmel Bay, in said city, when ordered to desist therefrom by any such peace officer or authorized agent of said city.

16. It shall be unlawful to refuse or fail to obey the lawful order, or orders, of any such peace officer or authorized agent, during the period of said extraordinary emergency, as above set forth, in the direction of pedestrian or vehicular traffic in said city.

17. Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine not exceeding $300 or by imprisonment not exceeding 90 days in the County Jail or by both such fine and imprisonment.

18. The word "person" as used and employed in this ordinance is hereby defined to include also any copartnership, firm, corporation or association.

This Order shall be in full force and effect until modified or rescinded.

(Signed) KEITH B. EVANS
Mayor of said City.

BUNDLES FOR BLUEJACKETS GETS FULL SUPPORT FROM ADMIRALS

Word was received here this week by Mrs. Burleigh Hall Murray to the effect that the new national organization of Bundles for Bluejackets, a chartered unit of Bundles for Britain, will have as its sponsors the Commander-in-Chiefs of the United States Atlantic and Pacific Fleets, Admiral Ernest J. King and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

Mrs. Murray has been appointed chairman of the Carmel chapter, according to orders from national headquarters in New York City, and will serve as the executive head of both the local branches of the organization.

Bundles for Bluejackets will help provide men of the navy with woolen garments such as sweaters, watch caps, scarves or gloves, made to conform with government naval specifications.

"Though separate units, the two groups, Bundles for Bluejackets and Bundles for Britain, will be closely coordinated," said Mrs. Murray. "We must now work harder to supply substantial aid to our own American seamen at war and to fulfill our continuing obligations to the sufferers in Great Britain and as many volunteers as possible are wanted to make this objective obtainable."

The Bundles for Bluejackets will also aid the families of the Bluejackets as well as the seamen.

Mrs. Malcolm Wood is enjoying a visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morris of Los Angeles who will remain until after the holiday season is over. Mr. and Mrs. Morris report conditions in Los Angeles as being just about as usual, with only one blackout up to the time of their departure.

LAW ASSOCIATE ANNOUNCED BY SHELburn ROBISON

Last week Shelburn Robison announced that Eben Whittlesey will work as an associate with him in his Carmel law office.

Whittlesey, just recently admitted to the bar, is a graduate of Williams college and of Stanford law school. He is the nephew of Colonel and Mrs. Roger Fitch of Monterey.

Miss Mary Morse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. B. Morse, will be home from the Kappa House at Stanford and will entertain a group of friends for dinner and dancing at Del Monte on New Year's Eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Veit have issued invitations for a Holiday cocktail party on the 28th at their Pebble Beach home; and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bunn will christen their new Pebble Beach home with a cocktail party on the 3rd of January.

PAUL WHITMAN CIVIL CHIEF FOR DEFENSE

Almost on the eve of Christmas, final details for air raid and blackout warning and rules were laid down in an Executive Order from Mayor Keith B. Evans, substantiated with slight modification in ordinance form at Tuesday evening's council meeting.

Many quarters believe that if air raids are planned for any specific time in the near future it is for the Christmas season, so the order of the day is still to be prepared for another blackout, and this time the real thing.

No test blackout is contemplated by any authority, from the military chiefs of this district on down to local authorities in Carmel, according to a statement by the Mayor before the council.

At this time Paul Whitman has taken over duties as Civilian Defense coordinator for Carmel and the adjoining areas of the county.

The Mayor's executive order is published elsewhere in this issue.

Warning signals remain the same, being four blasts repeated on the fire siren for blackout (or air raid), with two blasts repeated for the all clear signal.

Blackout is defined for this purpose as complete blackout, no lights showing and no cars, other than those operating under special permit, to move.

Thus Carmel prepares for a Merry Christmas in this year of grace, 1941.

FINAL SERVICES FOR MRS. MARY WILLIAMS TO BE HELD FRIDAY

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 8:30 from the Freeman-Rancadore mortuary in Monterey followed by mass at Carmel Mission for Mrs. Mary Jane Williams who died early Tuesday morning at her home in Carmel.

Mrs. Williams, a resident here for the past 14 years, has been ill for six months. She is survived by a daughter, Mary Williams of Carmel, and three sons, James Williams, RCAF pilot who was here on furlough at the time, Vincent of Carmel, and William and Lawrence Williams of New York. Two brothers, James and Fred Pidgeon of New York and eight grandchildren also survive.

A native of New Rochelle, New York, Mrs. Williams came to Carmel in 1927.

The Troupers of the Gold Coast and the Denny-Watrous management are holding open house at the First Theater on New Year's Eve, following the "Pinafore" performance with its mad olio. From 11 p.m., 1941, until 2 a.m., 1942, the Troupers will be at home to all former Troupers of the Gold Coast. Anyone who has ever played a part at the First Theater or served on the staff, is invited to drop in and make merry with the cast of "Pinafore" at the First Theater, Monterey.

KELSEY DOES FINE JOB WITH HIS ORCHESTRA IN FIRST RECITAL

An informal recital which brought high pleasure to the select audience was given in the lunch room at Sunset School on Sunday afternoon by Walter Kelsey and his String Symphony Orchestra. This was the first public appearance of the organization which is sponsored by the Carmel Adult School.

Included in the program were three songs by Carl Bensberg, accompanied by Jaffrey Harris; two Christmas carols played on violins by 12 young players who are pupils of Kelsey; two "Gavottes" played by a string quartet whose members are also members of the string orchestra; and several numbers by the full orchestra.

The feature number of the program was composed for the occasion by Kelsey, and played for the first time in public. It is a Christmas suite in two movements, the first representing the scene about the Christmas tree when presents are opened, combines traditional melodies with modern effects; the second being a Christmas hymn of moving beauty and strength.

All of the numbers were exceptionally well received by the audience. Hal Garrott introduced each number with interesting comments about the composer and the music.

COME AND JOIN IN THE COMMUNITY CAROLING

If you have a good bass, a squeaky tenor or an uncertain soprano, you'll be welcome at the Christmas Eve community sing which will start at 7:30 in front of the library. The Peninsula Male Chorus will lead, but that doesn't mean that you have to have a voice to do a bit of good old Christmas caroling.

Then at 9:30, John Burr plans to take up where the Chorus left off—anyone wishing to sing some more may gather at the fountain on San Carlos and Ocean.

CARMEL COMES THROUGH

Dr. G. H. Taubles announces that the drive for the Red Cross War Fund has been a great success and that before the end of the week it is an assured fact that the quota for Carmel district will be raised. Once more Carmel has made the goal.

TARNISHED TALENTS

Shattered and scattered his tarnished talents lay

Here a bit there a bit they had rusted away,

With brilliance dimmed, they lay unused

With them he made no goal

While the tarnish and corrosion ate like acid in his soul

He stood amid the ruins, and mused—
"I was a failure for I let my talents rust away."

—LILLIAN LOCKE

All applicants for navy or naval reserve should bring birth certificate or other evidence when applying for enlistment. If applicant does not have this evidence, apply in any case and steps will be taken to establish age and citizenship.

AVIATION CADETS ARE BEING ENLISTED NOW

ATTENTION!

Young men with two years of college who wish to become aviation cadets may be immediately enlisted by aviation cadet examining boards. Applicants desiring immediate action should come provided with a transcript of college records, birth certificate, three letters of recommendation and, where possible, application forms completed.

Application forms may be obtained at all Army Recruiting Offices, Elks Lodges, Chambers of Commerce and Junior Chambers of Commerce, or the applicant may write direct to the U. S. Army Recruiting Office, 32 Federal Office Building, San Francisco, California.

Aviation Cadet Examining Boards are located at Stockton Field, Hamilton Field and McClelland Field.

MISS EDITH MAY SWEENEY DIES AT HER HOME

In poor health for many years, Miss Edith May Sweeney, 45, died at her home in Carmel Saturday. A native of Missouri, she had lived in Carmel intermittently ever since her father, Dr. Charles T. Sweeney, first came here to winter 20 years ago. Since then the family has been spending part of each year in Medford, Ore.

Dr. and Mrs. Sweeney, the parents, and a sister, Mrs. Ralph Day of Portland, survive.

DOWN TO HER LAST BONE

Liza Jane Hudgins, the charter member of the Beagle Chapter of the Carmel Red Cross, whose proud owner is Mrs. Frances Hudgins, received one of the invitations to give to the war fund and responded nobly—by sending, via Parcel Post, her last bone wrapped in a dollar bill!

Also she sent a letter duly signed by her footprint in red ink (or was it mercurochrome?) and the assurance that she was happy to share with others. Could any Beagle do more for her country?

YOUNGSTERS REALLY DO THEIR SHARE OF GIVING TO THE JUNIOR RED CROSS

It's a common saying . . . I read it in The Cymbal

The Junior Red Cross of Carmel, which has a membership ranging from the ages of three years to 18, had each and every member active in the recent J.R.C. movement to make happy someone else at Christmas time.

Even the pre-school age children at Forest Hill school under Mrs. Louise Grigsby collected toys, clothing and food for the children in the tubercular ward of the Salinas hospital. Douglas School students collected and wrapped many lovely gifts and also sent wreaths and a trimmed tree, plus a generous check for Christmas dinners for some unfortunates.

Sunset school, from kindergarten up, sent their collection of toys, food and a trimmed tree. The high school gave a ping pong table made in the shop and bought two dozen bedside trees and trimmed them for the wards in the Fort Ord hospital.

The high school also purchased and collected ornaments and a tree and gave it to the Recreation Hall for soldiers in the Monterey Pacific Building.

Local Pride

San Francisco newspapers hailed the sub attack on the Agaworld
as happening just outside the Golden Gate. Mission district residents shuddered.

Santa Cruz newspapers said it all happened just outside their fair city.

Monterey's Herald claimed it for Cypress Point, which, of course, is just outside Monterey.

Carmel, in turn, has an even stronger claim, because what can be seen from Cypress Point can be seen from inside some portion of Carmel Bay—ergo, the Japanese submarine is ours!

I, personally, claim the whole affray as occurring within the purview of a keen-sighted person standing on Scenic drive.

Comparison with various newspaper accounts, however, brings some doubt if anyone did see the affair from shore, but the Herald has its witnesses.

At least one person in Carmel heard loud detonations at 2:15 p.m. last Saturday, according to Malcolm Tarpey of Mayfair, who says his mother noted the report and the time.

I Remember When . . .

It was the year 1920. I had just been dragged off to the East, leaving behind a few unpillaged bird-nests south of Thirteenth avenue and east of Lincoln street.

In that year I first predicted war with Japan in 1925. I expected to be 18 and ripe for enlistment in the Navy by 1925.

Up in Canada a school acquaintance remarked that Great Britain and Japan would combine to clean up on the Americans someday—hadn't they signed the Gentlemen's Agreement?

That confirmed my American patriotism, confirmed my dislike of the English—although I subsequently married an English-born girl.

The years passed, 1925 came and went, and no war—and I was slightly disappointed.

Like the U.S. Navy and a lot of quiet people like myself, I had the belief that Japan and the United States someday would clash, even if my fateful year of 1925 had moved into history without an outbreak.

Now I'm burdened with responsibilities and becoming decrepit with age, but not too much so to pull down a berth as a sea cook if the Naval Reserve will have me.

(That would make my son, Skipper, a son of a sea cook! He'd hold it quite an honor, I'm sure.)

I Hear a Voice

Mary Marble Henderson Brock is the voice of Carmel out of Ankara, Turkey, at present. She's to be heard a little after 5:30 most evenings on the international radio hook-up.

Recently Mary spoke feeling of Carmel when war broke on the Pacific. She's had an exciting time since leaving Carmel, but the only quaver in her voice was when she spoke of war coming so near her old home town.

Library Blackout

The Carmel Library, as a concession to those desiring to use the library and unable to do so weekdays because of the "blackout" 5 o'clock closing now prevailing, will be open on Sunday afternoon from 1 to 5.

It seems that the library board might consider the part the library should play in maintaining civilian morale by providing a cheerful fireside of evenings (as many remember with gratitude from depression days) and a book to forget workday cares.

Many of the people observed at the library on an average evening are to be numbered among those who cannot visit the library any time except after 5 o'clock, among these the military who only recently won a library concession after considerable "cold shoulder."

Sunday, after all, is a day with the family in this American scene.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Winslow and Mrs. Chester Shepherd have returned to Pebble Beach from Guaymas where they were forced to leave the Singer yacht, The Navigator, when war was declared. Mr.
G. Harton Singer, owner of the yacht, joined Mrs. Singer at their home in Sewickley, Pa., for the holidays.

DOUGLAS SCHOOL NOTES

On Thursday afternoon, December 18th, Douglas School held its annual Christmas pageant in the Great Hall of the school building.
A few days before the entire school took part in chopping down a suitable pine tree to be used as the Christmas tree, bringing it into the hall for decoration.

The pageant, following the old English Christmas traditions and customs, presented the Court of the Good King Wenceslas, under the direction of June Sanders.
Christmas carols were interspersed throughout the performance. The opening group of carols—sung very effectively off-stage—were accompanied with a violin obligato by John Metcalf, of Carmel.

The affair was very well attended by parents and friends; a delicious "Wassail Bowl" of hot spiced cider with Christmas cookies, candy canes, etc., was served at the end of the performance, while Santa Claus arrived with his pack—to the delight of the younger members of the throng—and distributed gifts to everyone.

Bright and early Friday morning

SEASON'S GREETINGS

Brighter Side of the Blackout: Sunset Youngsters Tell All, And Maybe Too Much

We just sat around and ate sandwiches. After that I went to bed.

—WARD DOLAN, Kindergarten.

Daddy put shoe polish on the lights of our car to make them black.

—JOANNE CONLEY, Kind.

We know when to turn off the lights cause my daddy tells us.

—SUE STEVENSON, Kind.

We'll be targets if our lights are on.

—DONNIE LEIDIG, Kind.

Mrs. White was staying with us and all the lights were out and she hit her head. It bled.

—LOUISE GINDER, Kind.

When I get big I'm going to get in a bombing plane and knock down a Jap. I'm going to kill, so nobody gets killed.

—DAVID CASTAGNA, Kind.

I was at a friend's house at the time of the blackout. He had left some toys on the stairs and I fell over them and went tumbling down the stairs.

—LEE SELVY, Grade 3

The night the man came to our house and said to turn out our lights, my mother was cooking hamburgers and she burnt them.

—MARLENE OTTMAR, Grade 4

It was so ghostly in our house, when I went to bed I hid my head under the covers and went to sleep.

—JEAN COGGESHALL, Grade 3

Our next door neighbor had invited us to their house. When we got there, there was the blackout and we stayed until it was over. We had spaghetti.

—LEE LAUGENOUR, Grade 4

My father is block warden. He had to go around and tell people to turn off their lights.

—BIRNEY ADAMS, Grade 4

The blackout came while we were eating dinner, we were having steak. A man came and told us to turn off the lights. We did and had to eat in the dark. One sister said she lost her steak and my other sister said she couldn't find her fork so she ate with her hands.

—BARBARA BOLTON, Grade 4

A man came and said to turn out the lights so we had to eat in the dark. Bonnie and I had to go to bed early because we could not read. Mother and Daddy tucked us in so we wouldn't fall out.

—GAIL HALSEY, Grade 4

Flashlights had to be dimmed. We have found out that a good way to do this is if you have a small boy or girl, just borrow one of their socks and slip it over the light. It works very well.

—SUNNY COOK, Grade 6

The night of the blackout Dr. McCabe and Mrs. McCabe were both out doing Red Cross work. Usually when they walk into their house, their parrot yells in his loud-est voice, "Hello, Polly!"

That night when they came home about two o'clock the parrot said, "Hello, Polly" in the lowest whisper he could because he was so scared of staying in the dark.

—MARGARET KOLLMER, Grade 6

Oh! Oh!

I have a little puppy. Just got him, or her as the case might be. Cute little fellow—half Chow and half Collie. The other night in the middle of the blackout, a funny thing happened. The floor seemed wet in one spot as though some water had been spilled there. Curiously, I held a candle close to the spot. Boy! Was I mad at that pup when I got finished cleaning up that night!

—BOB BARRY, Grade 6

MATHIOT MADE DIRECTOR OF NEW PERUVIAN HORSE BREEDERS ASSOCIATION

K. D. Mathiot, of Carmel Valley, was made one of the directors of the Peruvian Horse Breeders Association at a meeting held recently at Montezuma by this new organization.

When George H. Stevenson, the president, brought Norbo, a Peruvian stallion, to his Los Gatos ranch three years ago, it was the only one in the United States. Since that time, Norbo has sired 40 colts.

Peruvian horses, which are gaited differently from any other horse—their hind feet trot and their front are thrown out like a single footer—are especially adapted to both stock work and pleasure riding and are considered to have a great future ahead of them in California.

Mrs. Lucile Crompton of Los Angeles is visiting her daughter Mrs. James Critchlow over the holidays.

GOOD JOB DONE BY ALL SAINTS' CHILDREN IN CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

A week ago Sunday morning the children of All Saints' Church presented their annual Christmas pageant, "The Road to Bethlehem."

The program included numbers by the choir under Reu H. Manhire with Alice Keith at the piano, and O Holy Night sung by Bob Jensen.

The Reverend C. J. Hulsewé read the story of "The Road to Bethlehem" in which participated, William and Norvell Jerkes, Dennis and Patricia Gorman, Bob Bell, Frank Bennett, Joe Goodrich, Pat Casey, Sondra Sowell, Phyllis Burnett, Alice Lee Selvey, Sue Stevenson, Ann Westerveldt, Janet and Jeffrey Gorman, Lloyd Carter, Harry Silsby, Joseph and Peter Goodell, Jerry Shepard, Don Stevenson, Eva Lou Lippi, Charlotte Enslow, Huns Lehman, Peggy Richer, Roberta Roberts, Connie Neilsen.

The Christmas pageant was successfully given under the direction of Mrs. Hulsewé assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Stevenson and Miss Elizabeth Lindley.

FIRST AID CLASS THRIVING

The First Aid Classes are going on apace with heightened interest and the large enrollment has been divided into two classes, one under Mrs. W. C. McCabe and the other under Henry Smith, whose home is in Carmel and whose work—with P.G. & E. in Salinas.

Mr. and Mrs. Burleigh Hall Murray left Tuesday for Yosemite to spend a week at the Ahwanee.

With winter in full swing, our Bundles for Britainer will no doubt need Bundles for Mrs. M. up there.

ON THE BIAS

The Merry Christmas feeling in our shops is distinctly Carmelish. It's what makes out-of-towners buy things here instead of in the cities they come from, or go to. One shop on Ocean avenue has an engaging miniature Christmas tree bedecked with bright feathered ornaments—in the window, holiday sprays with bright berries—and on the shelves red ribboned hat boxes.

Holly red and kelly green—still so popular—click perfectly as Xmas decor in any shop—red velvet jerkins with green skirts, or green and white fleece jackets patterned with green embroidery, toping black velvet skirts.

Tom and Jerry wools are selling fast—that is, after the blackout halt last week when not much of anything, anywhere was sold. These soft clinging winter wools in pale pastel colors make you look sufficiently dressed up by reason of shiny silver plaques or gold chain network for belts, yet keep you warmer than silk at Christmas parties in those Carmel studios which are none too well-heated.

Perennial pleats. There are skirts to be had in town with uncrushable pleats that go on and on forever. Such a skirt you can sit curled up in by a yuletide fire all the night before, or after Christmas and wear it again the next day—with the pleats ship-shape. All because these skirts have especially activated pleats that when at night, they are clamped on a pants hanger, they fall dutifully in line and straighten themselves out automatically.

Women have funny ideas about what they can wear and what they can't wear. Very often they are wrong. So give it a try—that dress which the salesgirl suggests may just happen to be your style even if you are convinced it isn't. Don't be biased. Slip it on and have a look-see. Don't get antagonistic ideas about the new tiered dresses—with the tiers of tiny pleats. The tiers are rather magic. They can make a short stocky woman look slimmer, and from a tall ungainly one, becomingly take away height.

It's a quilted year all right. Everything is quilted from nighties, bed jackets, bedspreads, on through house coats to afternoon bodices, skirts and formals. Some, very handy things of a practical nature are quilted. Such as the dainty boxes for bureaus which lead the most messy person into tidy ways. In quilted sets of salmon, aqua green, cherry, pale blue they prettily file away hankies, gloves, stockings costume jewelry. The larger satin trays completely quilt the whole bureau drawer.

French suits are coming in—the ones not too heavily tailored, and yet not exactly dressmaker suits either. Tailleurs, they call themselves. Many of these tailleurs are in soft gray—plain, plaid or check. Ever since gray got going some weeks ago it has been getting a stronger and stronger hold on indoor and outdoor wardrobes.

Sales about town! There are a lot of extra nice things to be had which should help you decide how to use that check Santa puts in your stocking. Here are several outfits one remembers—a bright blue bolero, of the blue once called Copenhagen. But this felt bolero, appliqued with white felt, comes from Hungary. There is a matching blue and white bonnet of the same pattern. A few snappers on this bonnet and, presto, you'd have a smart purse if you are not the bonnet wearing type.

Then there is a Christmas season formal with a bright green bodice, a full and flowing skirt of great red flowers hand-in-hand with big blue and white and yellow blooms.

Further down the street a long urbane red evening coat, Chinese, with a big shoulder design of dragon gold.

For holiday cocktail parties, a green print of all-green flowers that makes you think of warm open fields even when you can see your breath in the chill Carmel air. "Green pastures" the girl nicknames it. Or a taffeta dress with a sleek black waist, a full red and white plaid skirt—the plaid showing gaily as collar and lapel.

Mary Campbell and her father will come to Carmel from Piedmont to share Christmas with Betty and Mr. and Mrs. Norman T. Reynolds.

Ann Millis came home from Cal for the holidays to spend her time working on the Monterey Herald.

Berries for Christmas

Pyracantha berries were mentioned for Christmas decoration but space would not permit in last week's column for a discussion of the grandest of the group—duvali.

This variety is the result of years of patient selection and breeding by growers and represents a combination of three qualities we practically demand in a berry bush—brilliant berries, long-lasting quality and clean, bright foliage. The older types gave us one exceptional quality and two not-so-good. In yunnanensis we found exceptional foliage but small berries; formosiana showed great promise as to both berries and foliage but the birds were so fond of the berries that they were stripped soon after ripening.

Duvali gives color in pleasing variation; in the spring it is covered with a blanket of white, fleecy blossoms; with green berries through the summer which change to great clusters of large scarlet berries as early as October. These remain all through the winter months, sometimes as late as March. Somehow birds do not relish duvali berries and leave them entirely alone. The dark green, glossy foliage is striking contrast for the lighter greens that usually predominate in a shrub background.

This plant is quite versatile and obligingly serves as a pot, or tub, plant in a patio, as a member of a group planting in shrubby border or foundation planting, or espaliered against a wall. It will remain dwarfed in a pot or tub and will not require much pruning but if left to itself in the open ground will attain a height of eight or ten feet and a spread about equal to the height. It appears able to withstand freezing as well as extremely high temperatures so can be planted in full sun or partial shade.

Ask to see this grand plant next time you visit a nursery; it's just begging for a spot in your garden

Troubled With a Sweet Tooth?

Christmas-time is usually candy-time, so here are some nice sweet recipes from Carmel candy makers, each of whom guarantee that theirs is the best ever.

For something colorful and tasty to put on your holiday table, Gussie Meyer has this one:

GLAZED CRANBERRIES

For the glaze syrup, cook 1 cup granulated sugar and 1/2 cup water until it spins a thread. Remove from stove and let cool slightly.

Select red firm cranberries (be sure that they are dry) and dip a few at a time in glaze and drain on wax paper. Do not pack until glaze is dry.

ENGLISH TOFFEE

from Mrs. A. W. Wheldon

1 lb. soft brown sugar.

1/4 lb. butter.

3 tables. molasses.

2 tables. vinegar.

Cook all together, stirring constantly until it will form a ball in cold water. Pour into a greased platter and mark into squares.

AFTER DINNER PEPPERMINTS

(uncooked mixture)

from Mrs. William Goad

2 tablespoons top milk.

1 1/2 cups confectionery sugar.

1/2 tables. melted butter.

3 drops peppermint oil.

Add sugar gradually to milk, then add butter and peppermint. Work with hands until creamy and shape in balls, flattening out slightly on top; dip in melted chocolate. Coloring matter may be added to the mixture.

Robin Habenicht left Tuesday for San Jose to spend the holidays with friends. Her mother, Mrs. Ellen Habenicht, may join her there today.

to produce berries for next Christmas.

Opportunity

Indications now point to a probability of short time rentings—week-ends, holidays and visits.

We have a rental property close to the center of town which is producing an income right now.

It can be enlarged and developed into guest houses, cottages or an apartment hotel.

This is an excellent opportunity for someone who wants to have an income and add value to their property at the same time.

Mrs. Fern Hyde arrived Monday from Los Angeles to spend Christmas with her daughter and son, Jean and Laddie.

Word comes to us that Ila A. Limerick has moved to Santa Barbara from Rock Fall, Illinois—but no matter where she lives, she still wants to be kept posted on Carmel news (via the CYMBAL) as to whether or not the council decides to move a tree. . . !

Mrs. Elizabeth Curran will spend the holidays with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Curran at their home in Bakersfield.

Gretchen Neikirk is taking a brief vacation from her millinery shop in the Pine Inn Court and will go to Palo Alto to spend Christmas with her mother. It won't be all pleasure for Gretchen, though, she'll also have a tooth pulled before returning home Sunday.

Jaffrey Harris will be batching it over the holidays as his wife (Rachel Morton) left early this week for Hollywood to visit her mother and Ann Barrow, who lives with the Harrises, departed Friday for Bronxville, N.Y. to see her family—the first time in many months—Of course Ann will return in time to get back to her job of secretary at the high school when it opens again on January 5.

Mrs. J. W. Getsinger was called out of town suddenly upon the death of her uncle, Harry G. Shriner prominent La Jolla artist. She'll come back to Carmel at the end of the week.

Bud Brownell is spending his Stanford vacation at his Scenic Drive home, getting in a round of golf whenever the weather permits. Bud, in case you don't know it, is a mighty fine golfer—having broken the Stanford course record which is 65, with a 63 just a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Acton Hall flew out from Piqua, Ohio to have Christmas with Mr. Hall's mother, Mrs. Acton Hall, Sr. They will head back to Ohio again at the end of the week.

Dr. and Mrs. T. Grant Phillips and young Deane, left yesterday for Los Angeles where they will spend Christmas with Dr. Phillips' mother and father, returning in a few days.

Mr. C. A. Laystrom flew out from Chicago to be with his wife and two sons during Christmas, arriving in town Sunday. The Laystroms will leave early next week for Palm Springs where they will see the New Year in.

Miss Sheila Moore, daughter of Mrs. Sidney Fish, has arrived on the Peninsula from Sweet Briar College to spend the holidays at the Fish Ranch. David Moore is up from the Cates School and Stuyvesant Fish flew out from Harvard to spend the Holidays. Many parties are being planned for them.

The Ray Force clan left Monday for the Bay Region for a big family Christmas gathering—they'll be back for New Year's.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Weiman will spend Christmas in Berkeley, returning on Friday or Saturday.

Arriving home last week from Dominican Convent for the holidays were Suzanne and Nancy Watson, daughters of the Eugene Watsons, and Beatrice Douglas, daughter of the Bruce Douglasses. And it's some vacation they have—almost three weeks.

For A Moment of Relaxation, I Went to First Theater; Saw and Enjoyed Pinafore

The Troupers of the Gold Coast couldn't have picked a more suitable subject than a naval one for their presentation of last week-end and the coming week-end (Saturday and Sunday evenings) than "Pinafore," which they gave with gusto over at the First Theater in Monterey.

The presentation of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta brought something new in the line of entertainment to the diminutive stage, and necessitated a streamline chorus of eight instead of 20 persons, sisters, cousins, aunts and tars.

Because of his elaborately fitting makeup and graceful presence and delicately sung lyrics, Edward Hopkins, the maestro of singing, topped the show; but he by no means held all the stage. Norma Wiley, with a sensitive and tuneful voice, an appreciative understanding of the role of Josephine, did exceedingly well.

Rashell Doree, with Gallic freshness, made a darling Buttercup, and Dick Boone, a comparative newcomer to local theatricals, although married into the Hopper family which has a long history on the Carmel stage, created a thoroughly garish character in Dick Deadeye.

Ronald Telfer, who jumped into the role of Captain Corcoran and Eddie George, with his tuneful rendition of the Sullivan songs, were equal to the occasion, and their sisters, cousins, aunts, tars, boatswain (Paul Clemmensen), etc., most ably supported in a cast in which each individual counted for much.

Frankly, I enjoyed "Pinafore" much more than I expected to, and I recommend it for those who are not too choosy, but who can relax over a little American-version Gilbert and Sullivan.

As for the olio, it was refreshing. I took a holiday from First Theater plays and olios, but, returning for this one, I was surprised. A change in personnel, a hasty slinging together of stunts and numbers—and there was a refreshing after-act.

Boore, with a touch of the West Indies in his rendition of "With 'er 'ead tucked underneath 'er 'arm," and Peggy Mather with her Martha Graham parody of "Pinafore," brought a touch of the intellectual to the program.

The rest were good stunts with Bob McMenamin and Louise Welty carrying a good deal of the load.

A word to the wise: Don't wear out this bunch of artists and don't let them learn the melodrama art. Send 'em over to Kuster for a bit of deep stuff. Keep bringing in new blood. Give them a break and they'll pay dividends—if they don't all go marching away first.

Yours, tenderly—

PINAFORE CHEERS MANY A HEART AT FIRST THEATER

In spite of war and weather, lovers of laughter and fun continue to go to the First Theater, quite hilarious at the excellent production of the Gilbert and Sullivan "Pinafore," with its rollicking olio, which the Troupers of the Gold Coast are playing week-ends at the First Theater, Monterey.

This Saturday and Sunday evenings, December 27, 28, and again on New Year's Eve, December 31, the Gold Coasters are putting on their merry show. Reservations for the special New Year's Eve performance are coming in fast, large parties being made up to see the old year out.

+ + +

LIONS REPORTED IMPROVING

Five men donated blood for the transfusion recently given Ted Lions at the Salinas hospital, two of whom were his fellow workers from the Standard station, Bob Harnisch and A. C. Weiman.

Doctors stated this week that they would be able to save the leg of Lions which was so badly injured in the accident he had November 31 while riding up the Carmel valley on his motor bike.

Lundigan and "Man at Large" with Marjorie Weaver and George Reeves is the Friday and Saturday attraction.

EVERYONE UNDER 12 INVITED TO BUSINESS ASSOCIATION CHRISTMAS PARTY

There will be lots of little kiddies out of mother's way while she prepares the turkey on Christmas when the Carmel Business Association gives its annual Christmas party at 11 o'clock at the Carmel Theatre and asks all of Carmel's young ones to come to it.

Besides the picture featuring Gloria Jean, a group from the Male Chorus will sing several numbers. All the guests will receive cookies and fruit as well as a Defense Savings book with a starter of one Defense stamp already in it.

So if you be 12 years old or under, you are invited to be present. Remember, 11 o'clock Thursday at the Carmel Theatre!

HAPPY NEW YEAR CARDS?

One of the inevitable things of life is on its way to you and on the first of January, you'll receive a card telling you all about it.

In other words, your taxes will be due and it's up to the genial T. J. Hefling to see that you pay them—none too pleasant a job for after the holidays.

The widely-heralded biographical tribute to one of the World War's greatest heroes, "Sergeant York," will play Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Carmel Theatre.

Gary Cooper stars in the title role of the Tennessee mountaineer who "got religion," (hallelujah!), became a conscientious objector, yet emerged as one of the greatest heroes of all time.

The war sequences of "Sergeant York" are said to rival war sequences of any other film. Opposed to these thrilling moments are the tranquil scenes showing Alvin York's life in Tennessee, and his metamorphosis from renegade to a soldier-hero.

Undoubtedly the film's greatest sequence is that one delineating York's capture of 132 Germans. The feat remains in war annals as one of the most amazing of its kind. More surprising still was York's admission that he had accomplished this only to stop more killing, since he believed reverentially in the biblical adage "Thou Shalt Not Kill."

WE THINK THEY'RE INTERESTING

The Christmas holidays and a couple of well-earned leaves brought two Carmel boys back to the fold last week to visit their families so that they might tell their tales—that is, so that they might tell what they could without overstepping the line of what is considered talking material and what isn't in the jobs which they have left behind them.

Since last home, one had spent 653 hours in the air, the other 13 months on the water. Respectively they are, Jimmy Williams, son of the late Mrs. J. T. Williams, and Bill Chapman, son of Mrs. Green Chapman. Williams, who has been with the Royal Canadian Air Force since May first and is now an acting flight commander, has just pulled in from Winnipeg. While Chapman has been a 3rd engineer on an American President Lines boat which just pulled in from the war zone.

Their stories and experiences are as strikingly different as their separate air and sea homes, yet similar in that they are both Carmel sons, both of whom had each received his primary and fundamental training from two retired service men living in Carmel. Williams started to sprout wings under Col. H. L. Watson; Chapman, his water wings under Commander Martin J. Peterson, along with the other Sea Scouts of a few years back. Both boys are generous in praising their masters, thankful for the good, sound groundwork which they laid for them.

Taking the Boys Separately

Born in Manila, oriental waters are nothing new to Chapman since he made his first trip to sea at 7 months when he set out for America with his parents. In 1933 his family came to Carmel and a few years later he started sailing with the Sea Scouts over at Stillwater. After Commander Peterson had taught him his first steps in sea faring, Chapman went to the California Merchant Marine Academy, graduating last year.

The six months trip from which Chapman just returned, took him to Suez via the South Atlantic route. In Suez, where they docked a month, he went through about 10 air raids and felt safer on the water than on land because when a ship is a target, he was pretty sure it would be missed! They could always tell the German planes from the Italian—the Germans flew low, the Italians high. He had a few days off, so he went up to Cairo, which was considered to be fairly safe from air attacks as it was regarded somewhat as a holy city—it was, anyway, up to the day Chapman got there and then they had their first raid on September 5, in which 35 civilians were killed.

Snakes as Hazards

After leaving Suez, his boat picked up 37 passengers from a boat sunk by the enemy on which all were saved. Outside of this incident, the only unusual thing which Chapman could talk about that would be eligible for publication, was his round of golf in Colombo on a marshy course which was equipped with a great assortment of snakes going under the assumed name of hazards.

Remarking on his visit to Japan a year ago, he was conscious of finding a generally strong feeling of discontent amongst the people towards the militaristic regime. Even then, it was impossible for tourists to get a decent meal in Kyoto due to the shortage and rationing of food.

When asked what kind of a war he thought this would be, Chapman stated assuredly that he thought it would be a long distance war—which, no doubt, will involve him in one way or another.

Pilot Instructor, Jimmy Williams

When Williams was bitten by the flying bug back in 1928, he went over to the American Legion Airport in Monterey and learned to fly from Colonel Watson, whom he still claims is just about tops in flyers. After receiving his pilot's license he flew several planes of his own (until he decided they were too much trouble), and became an enthusiastic "Squawking Birdman." When he was refused by the United States air force because of being a married man, Williams decided to join the RCAF.

Before he had his wife and little son join him, for two and a half months he made the rounds of the training posts—Vancouver, Ottawa, Toronto, Picton and finally Winnipeg, emerging as a pilot officer. In July he was promoted to flying officer and right now he's an acting flight commander who hopes to get his captain's rating in the very near future.

Specialist in Beam Flying

Williams, whose work is in specialty teaching, says that "They're moving the boys right along" up there, with a great deal of work being done in night flying training, something which the fighting pilots must have. Although the weather has been nice recently, as a whole, the climate and terrain of Winnipeg he considers to be well adapted to flying conditions.

During the time which he has been up there, he has been astonished at the large number of American boys who come to join up with the Canadian air force. This, it seems, is due to the regulations of the United States air force which is open only to men who have had two years of college and who aren't married, no matter how many hours in the air they might have had. So those who are rejected because of such reasons, turn to our northern neighbors where they are accepted. According to Williams, these boys, who have had only a high school education, make almost better flyers than those who have received a higher education.

War Will Make a Difference

Chapman first learned of the Japanese declaration of war when his ship was two days out from California; Williams first heard the news when he was in bed and a friend telephoned him to tell that "we're in it now, boy!" To both the flyer and the sailor, it meant that they would try to get into the United States service. Bill is going to Oakland the day after Christmas to see whether he can get into the navy; before putting his car on the train and heading back to Winnipeg with his family, Jimmy will do the same—to see if the air service will have him now, since perhaps the war conditions may have altered regulations. —E. H.

There will be a special high Christmas mass at the Carmel Mission at 11 o'clock Christmas morning at which Noel Sullivan's choir will sing music by L. E. Byrne.

GIVE—NOT TAKE

The fifth grade in Miss Staffebach's room think they should give—not just take. They are going to give a Christmas box to some poor family that could not have a good Christmas dinner without it. The food is going to be in cans or fixed in some way that it won't spoil. Some children are giving money to buy the extra things that are needed.

Giving to others is making us happier this Christmas.

—EVA GRAVELLE, Grade 5

SEALS

I'm not going to tell you about water seals, but tuberculosis seals. I don't mean sick seals, but well seals with glue on their backs to stick on letters and packages this Christmas time. They only cost one cent, and every seal helps those who have tuberculosis. Have a heart and buy T.B. seals, Pal.

At The Churches

Church of the Wayfarer

At the Church of the Wayfarer on Sunday morning, Dr. James E. Crowther, the Pastor, will preach on the theme: "Rest Amid Unrest." Mrs. Jason C. Harbert, wife of Chaplain Harbert, will be the guest organist, and will play the following selections: Panfare, Du Bois, arranged by Rogers; Hymn of Nans, Lefebure-Wely; Duke Street by George E. Whiting. Visitors are cordially invited to share the worship and fellowship in this lovely sanctuary. The service is at 11 o'clock.

All Saints' Church

Next Sunday, 8 a.m., Service of the Holy Communion. 9:30 a.m., Junior Church and School. At 11 a.m., the Service of Morning Prayer with Sermon message by the Rector, the Rev. C. J. Hulsey. Offertory Anthem: God of Our Fathers, Whose Almighty Hand by George W. Warren. The familiar Hymns for Old and New Year will be part of the Service. Organ numbers will include a Chorale by Jan Sweelinck, In Thee, I Put My Trust, and Cantabile in G by Grison.

Mrs. Rae Welsh and her son left Sunday for Arizona to be gone for a week or more and although she will be in Phoenix most of the time, she expects to visit with the

G. de Packhs in Tucson before returning.

Since Mrs. Welsh has sold her court, could be that she's looking for a new location?

HELP BUILD A DEFENSE AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS

We are again at war. With its tremendous drain on physical stamina and funds, there is a tendency to forget what lies in wait for an unguarded opportunity to strike.

It is of the utmost importance that all do their part in fighting this battle against tuberculosis for the strength of the Country is only as strong as each individual in that Country.

It is the solemn duty of doctors, nurses and lay people to do their utmost in this line of defense as in all others, for tuberculosis maims and kills just as surely as bombs and guns.

The coveted first prize in the photo salon displayed in Antioch College recently was won by James Midkiff of Carmel.

The entry by young Midkiff was a picture of several old abandoned cogwheels piled in picturesque confusion, the wooden paneling of the buildings against which they are piled make a perfect background for the cogwheels, with the shadows showing in a particularly effective way in this strictly modern example of photography.

Mrs. Phyllis Midkiff is the mother of this artistic young photographer.

Submarine In Action Off OUR Coast

Me—War Correspondent! Yes—but for a thin dime!

It all happened Saturday afternoon, 13 days after the raids on our western bases in the Pacific.

War, in the form of a Japanese submarine, came close to our own coast, within eye view. And, but for the awful thought of a dime being wasted, I would have had a binocular view of the attack on a tanker off Cypress Point.

My attention was first caught from Scenic drive when I saw two distant ships, hull down, outside Carmel Bay. As far as I could make out, it seemed a tug with a barge in tow, so distant were the vessels.

Later, driving out to Cypress Point, to take my youngster to a Christmas party, I got a closer view. Here's what I saw:

Two vessels far off the point, one so low in the water as to be scarcely visible.

A tanker nearer at hand, bouncing in the winter ocean.

Off Point Sur, whose light was already flashing before sunset, another vessel, looking like a naval ship, headed on an inshore course which would not have cleared Cypress Point.

Then, while I watched, and debated over putting a dime in the slot of the pay-binoculars, a huge Army bomber flew overhead, out on a line to cut between the tanker just outside and the ship off Point Sur.

The usual patrol work, I supposed, and peaceful enough on a windy winter afternoon.

The bomber cut out for a distance, then veered north as if to look over the nearer tanker, just behind which was a convenient cloud for a surprise approach.

I wanted to peep through the binoculars, to see the tanker wallowing in the heavy swell.

But I considered how hard it is earned each thin dime.

The sun cast a bright highlight from the bomber's rudder fin.

Now, as a look back, those two distant vessels, which I first surmised might have been a barge and tug, then two of Lt. Comm. Paul Flanders' mine sweepers—may have been the tanker and submarine.

But then, as these mysterious things pass on the ocean, and reports come out of the air, and rumors spring up out of the fecund ground—Who knows?

I turned my back on the tempting binoculars and drove away. As I

Cliff Edwards and Ronald Reagan in a scene from "International Squadron" showing Friday and Saturday at the Carmel Theatre.

wheeled along the coast, I waved to two soldiers who seemed more concerned with keeping warm in the stiff squalls than in spying enemy subs—and they gave me a hearty wave.

I still have that dime, but I think I'll drive down to the beach and throw it in.

P.S.—Several golfers on the Cypress Point course apparently did see the engagement between the tanker Aguiworld and a Japanese submarine; remarked the great cloud of smoke caused by the tanker's firing to get up steam to run away.

In Carmel at least one person is believed to have heard the gunfire from the sub, which is reasonable to believe, especially because the time, 2:15 p.m., tallied exactly.
